

CURRICULUM VITAE (ABBREVIATED)

Giray Kabakci, M.D., F.E.S.C. graduated from the Hacettepe University Faculty of Medicine in June 30, 1982. After finishing the Internal Medicine Residency program in the Hacettepe University Faculty of Medicine Department of Internal Medicine on 1989, he completed military service in the dept. of Cardiology of Gülhane Military Medicine Academy between 1991-1992. He finished a fellowship program on Cardiology at the Hacettepe University in 1993. Dr. Kabakcı became Assistant Professor of Cardiology in 1994, Associate Professor of Cardiology in 1995, and Professor of Cardiology in 2002 at the Hacettepe University.

Dr. Kabakcı is became Clinical Hypertension Specialist of the European Society Hypertension in 2001 and currently a Fellow of the European Society of Cardiology. He is also member of many societies of his specialty including the European Atherosclerosis Society and International Society of Interventional Cardiology. He has been granted as “European Cardiologist” in the year 2005. Dr.Kabakcı was the President of Hypertension Working Group of Turkish Society of Cardiology between the years of 2004-2006. Currently he is working as an interventional cardiologist in Hacettepe University.